

ADVANTAGES OF ESTATE PLANNING DOCUMENTS

Along with your Last Will & Testament, there are several other basic estate documents you should consider. Take a look at the advantages of:

Powers of Attorney

- Establishing a powers of attorney is inexpensive.
- You can decide who should make decisions on your behalf if you are unable.
- You control whether your agent has general or specific power.
- The document can require the agent to become bonded or to give an account of his or her transactions.

Living Will

- Provides you with the authority to reject medical treatment.
- Provides your family and health care professionals a clear description about the types of treatments you wish to have.
- Prevents arguments among family members.
- Prevents your family from going through the strain and difficulty to decide to keep you alive or not.

Non-probate transfers

- Avoids expense of probate
- Avoids delay of probate.
- You can change beneficiaries or revoke transfers at any time, retaining full control of the property throughout your lifetime.
- No risk to you or co-owners.

To learn more about these estate planning documents, you can visit <http://WPLawPractice.com>.

If you are ready to have documents prepared on your own behalf or have specific questions about your estate, contact us today. 913.438.1112 or wpllc@wplawpractice.com.