FDA Draft Guidance - Best Practices for Developing Drug Trademarks

In late May, the FDA released a draft guidance document detailing its best practices for developing trademarks for drugs. The draft guidance, entitled Best Practices in Developing Proprietary Names for Drugs, can be found here.

Among other topics of interest to the pharmaceutical branding community, the draft guidance includes recommendations on how to pre-screen drug trademark candidates and what to consider when switching a drug from by-prescription only to over-the-counter.

Generic Top Level Domains - Current Sunrise Periods Open

As first reported in our December 2013 newsletter, the first new generic top-level domains (gTLDs, the group of letters after the "dot" in a domain name) have launched their "Sunrise" registration periods. Please see our December 2013 newsletter for information as to what the Sunrise Period is, and how to become eligible to register a domain name under one of the new gTLDs during this period.
