First, the new ordinance provides residential tenants with a defense to eviction if an eviction action is based on the tenant's failure to pay rent, and such nonpayment was due to circumstances occurring as a result of COVID-19. The defense to eviction will be available to residential tenants if the eviction was initiated because of unpaid rent that was due before or by March 1, 2021. Second, the ordinance allows residential or small commercial tenants who fail to pay rent due before or by March 1, 2021, to pay the overdue rent on a reasonable repayment plan if the nonpayment was due to circumstances occurring as a result of COVID-19. Further, the ordinance provides an additional defense to eviction if a landlord does not offer a reasonable repayment plan. Governor Jay Inslee announced relief for residential renters in response to the health crisis.
