

It's Here: Optima Juris Launches an Innovative New Resource for International Depositions, courtreporterengland.com

PRESS RELEASE UPDATED: JUL 27, 2017 13:25 PDT

Legal professionals now have access to quick and reliable information on setting up a deposition in England when they need it.

Irvine, CA, July 27, 2017 (NewsWire.com) - Optima Juris, the leader in international deposition services, is excited to unveil its latest country-specific website, courtreporterengland.com. This new online resource is the easiest way for a legal professional to get essential and accurate information on how to set up a deposition in England. With step-by-step guides and insider tips, courtreporterengland.com gives U.S. legal professionals from coast-to-coast the important information they need when they need it.

"With the launch of courtreporterengland.com, Optima Juris continues its commitment to provide easy, reliable, and accessible information on international depositions to the legal community," said Catherine Beeny, Director of Marketing for Optima Juris. "Nothing makes us happier than hearing how helpful our websites have been to paralegals and attorneys."

Courtreporterengland.com is just the latest in a series of country-specific websites to be launched by Optima Juris. Each website focuses on essential information, like rules and regulations, and the most up-to-date information for organizing a deposition in that country. This is the first time such detailed information will be available in exclusive websites, making international depositions easier than ever before to organize for U.S. attorneys and paralegals.

"For the past 17 years, we have dedicated ourselves to providing the highest-quality services with the least amount of hassle. We know that setting up a deposition abroad can be a challenging process and we are always looking for ways to ease the burden and stress for our clients," stated Ian Hardy, CEO, and President of Optima Juris.
