

Have No Fear, CourtReporterJapan.com is Here! Optima Juris Launches New Website to Take the Guesswork Out of Setting Up a Depo in Japan.

PRESS RELEASE AUG 30, 2017 06:00 PDT

Legal professionals now have access to quick and reliable information on setting up a deposition in Japan at their fingertips.

Irvine, CA, August 30, 2017 (Newswire.com) - Today, Optima Juris, a leading international court reporting agency, announced the launch of its new and refreshed website, courtreporterjapan.com. Unlike most countries, Japan has rules and regulations for setting up U.S. depositions and courtreporterjapan.com guides visitors through the process with ease. This website is a powerful new resource for legal professionals needing to instantly access accurate information on conducting depositions in Japan.

Visitors will notice major content enhancements plus a modern look and feel, aimed at highlighting Optima Juris' 17 years of expertise and knowledge in setting up international depositions. The new website is also designed for desktop and mobile devices, and has links to its corporate site, www.optimajuris.com, for more advice on taking depositions in other parts of the world.

"Our goal for courtreporterjapan.com is to give lawyers, paralegals, and other legal professionals an all-inclusive access to insider tips, expert know-how, and advice to help ease any fears in setting up a deposition in Japan," said Ian Hardy, CEO, and President of Optima Juris. "Our new website gives clients and prospects alike the information they need to research and feel confident that their deposition in Japan will go off without a hitch."

Courtreporterjapan.com is just the latest in a series of country-specific websites to be launched by Optima Juris. Each website focuses on essential information, like rules and regulations, and the most up-to-date information for organizing a deposition in
