November 9, 2011 by Brian Hurh

The FCC has posted its revised Form 499-A to include "non-interconnected VoIP providers" as a category of required filing entities. As we discussed previously, new FCC rules now require certain non-interconnected VoIP providers (including one-way services) to (1) register with the FCC by December 31, 2011, and (2) report revenues to the FCC by April 1 each year for purposes of contributing to the federal TRS fund.

The revised 499-A is available on the FCC's website here.
